TAX CONSIDERATIONS

Blocked amount due to buy-ins made into a pension scheme

If an early withdrawal is made within three years of any voluntary buy-ins by the vested benefits account holder into a pension scheme, there is a risk of subsequent taxation of these voluntary purchases. Please contact us if you have made voluntary buy-ins in the last three years.

Place of residence in Switzerland

An early withdrawal results in taxation of the pension assets at the pension rate for the year in which the withdrawal was made. The Vested Benefits Foundation must report each early withdrawal to the Federal Tax Administration.

Place of residence abroad (outside Switzerland)

The vested benefits paid out in cash are taxable in the canton of domicile of the vested benefits foundation according to the withholding tax rate (<https://steuerrechner.zg.ch/cgi/quellkapin.cgi>). The vested benefits foundation deducts the withholding tax due from the vested benefits to be paid out. Depending on the country of residence, the withholding tax can be reclaimed within three years.

PAYOUT OF VESTED BENEFITS UPON REACHING RETIREMENT AGE

The vested benefits account holder can withdraw his vested benefits from the age of 60 (men) or 59 (women). When the vested benefits account holder reaches the retirement age in accordance with the AHV (65 men, 64 women), the pension assets will automatically be paid out unless the vested benefits account holder can prove they are still employed and does not yet wish to withdraw the vested benefits. The pension assets will be compulsorily paid out at the latest upon definitively ceasing employment or reaching the age of 70.

PAYOUT OF VESTED BENEFITS WITH START OF SELF-EMPLOYMENT IN SWITZERLAND

The existing vested benefits can be withdrawn to invest in starting self-employment. It is recommended to ascertain in advance and in detail how the insured benefits of the vested benefits account holder will change in the event of invalidity, death or old age as a result of the withdrawal of the vested benefits.

Prerequisites:

- Self-employment must be the main occupation, not a secondary occupation.
- The vested benefits must be withdrawn in full. No partial withdrawal is possible.
- The vested benefits must be withdrawn within one year of taking up self-employment as a main occupation. Later withdrawal for the purposes of self-employment is not possible in principle.
- The responsible AHV administration office must confirm the self-employment.
- Consent from the spouse / registered partner before early withdrawal must be submitted by providing an officially certified signature (for sums over CHF 10'000).

PAYOUT OF VESTED BENEFITS UPON DEFINITIVE EMIGRATION FROM SWITZERLAND

If a vested benefits account holder is permanently leaving Switzerland, then, depending on the country to which they are emigrating, they can either withdraw their pension assets in full or the non-obligatory part alone. The part of the pension assets which is withdrawn in cash is to be taxed in the canton where the vested benefit trust has its headquarters.

Prerequisites:

- Cash payout of the vested benefits in the area of the compulsory minimum benefit is not permitted when an economically active person leaves Switzerland definitely and becomes subject to obligatory old age, death and invalidity insurance in an EU or EFTA country. The obligatory part will remain in the vested benefits account of the vested benefits account holder. It is only upon reaching the normal retirement age or, at the earliest, five years before the normal retirement age (or at the latest upon reaching 69 for women / 70 for men), that the obligatory vested benefits will be paid out. The non-obligatory portion of the vested benefits can, on the other hand, be withdrawn early.
- Persons who have permanently left Switzerland and are no longer subject to compulsory insurance in another EU or EFTA member state (for example due to giving up employment), can also request the cash payout of their vested benefits at a later point.
- It is the responsibility of the vested benefits account holder to prove to the vested benefit foundation that they are living in the foreign country they have moved to, and are no longer subject to the obligatory old age, death and invalidity insurance. This must be done using the forms available at the liaison office of the BVG security fund (www.verbindungsstelle.ch). Only after the security fund has confirmed the possibility of payout should the vested benefit foundation receive the application form, including the required associated documents. One should take into account that obtaining such verifications can take several months.
- There is no transfer of the vested benefits from the occupational benefit scheme into a foreign social security system.
- If a person is subject to the Liechtenstein system of social security due to a new economic activity, the vested benefits must be paid to the pension fund of the new employer in Liechtenstein. Payouts due to permanently leaving Switzerland is not possible to vested benefits account holder with residence in Liechtenstein.
